

Antonis Alexandridis, Belgium

Speaker, Round Table: Europe & Abolition

Antonis Alexandridis is a Greek Diplomat who joined the EEAS in April 2012. He studied international law and international human rights in Cambridge University and before joining the diplomatic service he worked as a lawyer. He was previously posted in India, South Africa, Brussels (Permanent Representation of Greece to EU) and France (Consul General in Marseille). He currently works in the Human Rights Department of the EEAS. He is responsible for the overall coordination on EU's policy against Death Penalty and, also, the human rights situation in the Gulf States, Yemen, Iran and Iraq.